Your $50,000 will help provide 47 child abuse victims their own, fully trained Court Appointed Special Advocate for one year. CASA volunteer advocates are trained to act as first-hand experts on the individual needs of abused and neglected children removed from unsafe homes, giving them the best possible chance of a hopeful future.

DID YOU KNOW....

- The median cost to provide a CASA (court appointed special advocate) for one child is $1,070, which covers training, staff support and related costs.
- Each CASA volunteer advocate undergoes a thorough training and development program that consists of 30 hours of pre-service training and 12 hours of yearly in-service training.
- A CASA volunteer advocate provides, on average, 50 face to face visits with each child and/or their service providers per year. These visits include, on average, 24 visits with the child, 6 appearances in court, 3 professional staffing meetings, 2 home study assessments, and 15 supervised visits between the child and their biological parent(s).
- The average length of time in which a child abuse victim is appointed a CASA volunteer advocate by the court is 12 months.

Community Investment

Your $25,000 will help provide 23 child abuse victims their own, fully trained Court Appointed Special Advocate for one year. CASA volunteer advocates are trained to advocate for the best interest of the children they serve, including testifying in the District Court civil cases where decisions are made such as custody, guardianship, visitation and finally, the permanent placement for each child.

DID YOU KNOW....

- CASA of Collin County is appointed as the guardian ad litem for every Collin County child abuse victim whose case is so severe that they must be removed from the unsafe home environment.
- The CASA volunteer advocate is often the only constant adult that follows the child through the complicated court system.
- When a child is assigned a CASA volunteer advocate the child is less likely to reenter the child welfare system. A CASA advocate reduces reentry into the system by one-half according to an audit completed by the US Department of Justice Office of the Inspector General that was released in January 2007.
- 94 % of the Texas judges surveyed said CASA on a case provides a better opportunity for a positive outcome for a child according to a survey completed by the Office of Survey Research at the University of Texas in 2008.

Community Investment

Your $15,000 will help complete the design and construction of an indoor and outdoor play area for child abuse victims receiving services at the CASA of Collin County offices. The CASA volunteer advocate will frequently meet the children they serve at the CASA offices for supervised parental visitation and for visits with the children or others involved in the child's best interest.

DID YOU KNOW....

- In 2009, CASA of Collin County moved from an inadequate 3,100 square foot leased office space and purchased a 6,500 square foot building in downtown McKinney that has been renovated and furnished to best meet the needs of the staff and volunteer advocates serving the child abuse victims in Collin County.
- The new CASA of Collin County offices now have both an indoor and outdoor play area under construction to provide a safe, child-friendly area conducive to private, supervised visitation with family and for any visits with CASA staff and volunteer advocates.
- With donated labor and materials, including support from JC Penney, 3e McKinney, Grimes Development, Lattimore Materials Company, Irrigators Supply, Rodney Haynes Landscaping, Junior League of Plano and many others, an outdoor parking area is being converted to an elaborate play yard for children of all ages.

Your $10,000 will help fund the extensive training that CASA volunteer advocates receive including 30 hours of pre-service training and 12 hours each year of in-service training.

DID YOU KNOW....

- Each year CASA of Collin County provides 30 hours of pre-service training for approximately 50 new volunteer advocates and helps provide some of the 12 hours of in-service training required for many of the nearly 200 active volunteer advocates.
- CASA volunteer advocate training is generally held 3-4 times per year. The Spring and Fall 09 classes are among the largest classes averaging 20 new advocates per class.
- Following the 30 hour training, the new CASA volunteer advocates are sworn in by District Court Judge Cynthia Wheless of the 417th District Court.
- CASA volunteer advocates are at least 21 years of age from all walks of life. 62 % are college graduates; 41 % are employed full time and 19 % are retired.
- The CASA volunteer advocate training is coordinated and presented by CASA of Collin County's Program Director, Dianne McCall, with segments provided by CASA Executive Director, Susan Etheridge, CASA Casework Supervisors, District Judge Cynthia Wheless, and other involved professionals.

Community Investment

Your $ 5,000 will help fund 21% of the travel expenses necessary as CASA program staff support the CASA volunteer advocate during the many visits (on average 50 per child) for home studies, court appearances, school visits, scheduled appointments with professionals, supervised parental visitation and twice monthly appointments with the child.

DID YOU KNOW....

- Children in Collin County often receive foster care placement out of the county due to the shortage of foster homes in our community.
- Annually, CASA Casework Supervisors travel approximately 43,700 miles in order to provide the professional casework support for child abuse victims and their CASA volunteer advocates.
- In 2008, 199 CASA of Collin County volunteer advocates served 598 child abuse victims. Of these 598 children, 299 achieved permanency and their cases were closed by the District Court Judge.
- CASA's final recommendations to the District Court were accepted 97% of the time in 2008.

Your $3,000 will provide training for 5 CASA Casework Supervisors at the annual Texas CASA conference held in October of each year.

DID YOU KNOW....

National CASA certifies 1,018 local and state member CASA program offices to ensure that they adhere to the formal standards set by National CASA.

Last year, 68,842 CASA volunteers advocated for 240,894 children in the foster care system.

CASA of Collin County program staff includes one Program Director and 5 Casework Supervisors that provide direct supervision and ongoing training and support for each CASA volunteer advocate.

Each CASA advocate is typically appointed as guardian ad litem for no more than one or two children at a time so they can give each child's case the sustained, personal attention he or she deserves.

CASA advocates are appointed to the more complex cases-those where there are multiple risk factors which must be fully understood in order to make a placement decision that will be in the child's best interest.
